WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKET. Butter on the Decline-A General Firmness Prevailing.

The unnatural advance in butter observable in the local wholesale market a week ago has been succeeded by the weakening predicted last Saturday, and the product today is about 2 cents a pound lower than it was at that time. The recent advance was an unhealthy and spasmodic one, due more to operators than to anything else, and prices may be looked to decline before they advance again. The market is steady at the prevailing prices. Cheese still maintains its steady condition, with unchanged prices. Eggs, although somewhat stronger, are unriggs, although somewhat stronger, are un-changed in prices, and as the setting sea-son is on prices will probably advance slightly in a short time. Poultry is some-what firmer, with prices a shade higher, the demand being quite active. Vegetables and fruits and beef and other meats re-main practically at the prices observed last week.

The following resolutions were adopted:
Resolved, That our representatives in Congress be requested in making their selections and using their influence for political positions to give their preference to those worthy republicans who have done service for the party and been removed for political reasors, and to others of the same class who are out of employment.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this association Jerseymen who now hold office and who neither go home to vote nor contribute to send other less fortunate Jerseymen home for that purpose, should not be the first to urge upon our representatives in Congress their claims for promotion in office.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Vice President and to our senator and each New Jersey representative in the House.
